

Jaime McCormick

Mindset Speaker and Coach

Jaime McCormick is a former national show dog champion trainer and former Olympic hopeful. When Jaime's daughter was born, he realized he had to confront his addiction in the mirror and began to learn how to change his mindset.

Jaime works at a psychiatric hospital and conducts group meetings for broken adults. He focuses on changing the mindset and using the power of forgiveness to help them live life on purpose and by design. Jaime's heartfelt story will draw your audience in and help them to start to defeat self doubting speech and behaviors.

SPEAKING TOPIC:

As Long As You Can Breathe You Have Purpose.

To change your mindset and live a more purposeful life, Jamie uses several techniques in his public speaking that will help your audience change how they behave and how they live their lives every day.

Teaching gratitude, meditation and the simple practice of giving a compliment to someone you don't even know, Jamie's practical talk on living with purpose will leave your audience with real life changing tools.

"How we view ourselves and our own perception is so key to our identity and how we FEEL about the life we live. You are worthy just because you exist. Be grateful for every single day and the connections you have with those around you."

TESTIMONIALS:

"I am blown away by Jaime! Jaime is a blessing to everyone who knows him and who has had the opportunity to work with him."

-Joshua T Berglan, CEO of Live Mana Worldwide and host of Morning Gratitude.

"Jaime McCormick delivers a powerful and compelling message which speaks to the power of positive mindset!"
